$2,000 for Queensland's next great young writer

Entries are now open for the State Library of Queensland's annual Young Writers Award, with $2,000 going to the winner of the popular short story competition.

For more than 20 years the competition has helped launch the literary careers of the next generation of great Queensland writers.

The competition is open to Queensland residents aged 15 to 25 years and is divided into two categories: 15 to 17 years (1,500 words) and 18 to 25 years (2,500 words).

The winner of the 18 to 25 years category receives $2,000 prize money, and the winner of the 15 to 17 years category receives $500.

Runners-up and highly commended entrants are awarded prize money and book packs.

All prize winners receive a membership to Queensland Writers Centre.

Entries close 5pm on Friday 30 April, with the winners announced at the Young Writers Conference at State Library in July.

Quotes from Minister for the Arts Leeanne Enoch:

"Investment in young writers is an absolute priority for the Queensland Government.

"This competition has a solid history of identifying and nurturing talent, linking young writers to professional networks and publishing opportunities.

"The impressive list of past winners and finalists — from Rebecca Jessen and Christopher Currie to Shastra Deo and Tara June Winch — demonstrates the quality of writing produced by young people in Queensland."

Quotes from the State Librarian and CEO Vicki McDonald:

"The annual competition not only provides recognition for talented young Queensland writers, but also helps writers find their voice and launch their literary careers.

"With over 300 entrants last year, the State Library hopes the competition will continue to encourage connection and expression through creative writing and story across Queensland."

The Young Writers Award is presented by the State Library of Queensland with support from Queensland Writers Centre.
